

MOORE COMMUNITY AND RECREATIONAL FOUNDATION (MCRF)

What Is A Community Foundation?

Community foundations bring together people who care about their communities and environment. They are independent, volunteer driven, charitable organizations that aim to strengthen their communities by facilitating philanthropy, by partnering with donors to build permanent endowments and other funds from which they support environmental and recreational community projects and by providing leadership on issues of broad community concern.

Founded on trust, community foundations help donors achieve their charitable goals and invest financial capital in their communities. They also stimulate and nurture the relationships that link us to others and that create our sense of belonging to a community. Social scientists call these vital connections “social capital” and have found that they are linked to many measures of community and individual well being. Community foundations, experienced in building financial capital for their communities, also have a leadership role in building social capital – the glue that holds communities together.

Why Should I Support The Foundation?

A gift to the Moore Community and Recreational Foundation provides the most flexible outlet for philanthropy. The Foundation ensures that a permanent endowment is in place for the present and the future operations. We are able to respond efficiently with timely and relevant grants as the needs in the community change from year to year.

Through the stewardship of experience and dedicated community leaders, the assets of the Moore Community and Recreational Foundation will continue to grow. You can be sure in the knowledge that your donation will be permanently invested and safely guarded for the future.

How Can I Make A Donation?

All donations, large and small, are important to help us build and continue growing our community fund which will be a legacy for the future. Many types of gifts, such as, cash, stock, insurance and property can be contributed to the Foundations.
